TUESDAY 24 NOVEMBER · LINDENGATE, WENDOVER

About the day

Join the Whole Child Therapy occupational therapy team in Lindengate's six-acre garden for a relaxed, drop-in day of nature-based activities. Explore the space at your own pace, try sensory-rich outdoor play and find out how nature therapy could support your child's regulation, wellbeing and learning.

Who it's for

Home-educating families looking for outdoor, therapeutic learning
EOTAS families building a package of education other than at school
Alternative Provision settings, staff and the young people they support
Professionals — SENCOs, case officers and key workers

What's on

Sensory nature trail through the orchard, ponds and wild spaces
Hands-on activities — digging, planting and nature crafts
Meet our OTs and ask about sensory processing and regulation
Find out about sessions — group and 1:1 nature therapy

Why nature therapy?

Outdoor spaces offer rich, natural sensory input, movement, touch, sound and space to breathe. Our occupational therapists use this to help children and young people regulate, build confidence and develop everyday skills, in a setting that feels very different from a classroom.

WHAT TO BRING

Warm, waterproof layers and wellies or sturdy boots. [Bring a packed lunch / refreshments available].

GETTING THERE

The Old Allotment Site, next to Dobbies Garden Centre. On-site parking. Sat nav: HP22 6BD.

ACCESS & NEEDS

Upon booking confirmation, you will receive a questionnaire to share your child's needs and access requirements.
